November 2019

A note from the Pastor

Time and again, we see celebrities espouse Christian beliefs only to drop them later. Very few people in the spotlight claim a Christian identity and even fewer live it. So what are we to make of Kanye West's recent proclamation that Jesus is King?

I listened to Kanye's album. I don't typically listen to him (or any rap artist for that matter) and the music isn't my preference. I tried to listen to the lyrics, but I struggled to pick up the meaning. I will say two things about the lyrics: they are clean and they repeatedly tell of Christ's saving love.

One song in particular hit me. No, it didn't hit me. I convicted me. Hands On has these lyrics:

"Said I'm finna (sic) to do a gospel album
What have you been hearing from the Christians
They'll be the first one to judge me
Make it feel like nobody love me"

Did Kanye West just call out my sin? On his public album? When Kanye said he was a born again Christian, I didn't believe him. When he said he would produce a gospel album, I thought it was for publicity. I was the first one to judge me.

Is Kanye West a genuine believer in Jesus Christ? I guess to answer that question, I'd have to ask another question: can Jesus Christ save Kanye West? Yes and amen! When someone confesses Christ publicly, our response should be rejoicing. Whether you're convinced of Kanye West's conversion or not, you should at least honor his request at the end of the song Hands On when a chorus pleads, "Somebody pray for me."

SPOTLIGHT

Brett and Patty Butler are our missionaries for the month of November. They are working in the San Francisco area, going door to door in neighbors sharing the gospel, discipling and training believers.

"We are a network of small simple churches who meet in homes, parks, conference rooms, etc. anytime during the week. Our meetings are family-style gatherings, with interactive teaching and lots of discussion. We learn together and hold each other accountable to act on what we've learned."

Pray for the leading of the Holy Spirit for opportunities to share Jesus and follow up with those who indicate an interest. FBC currently supports Brett and Patty at $50.00 a month.
